BREVITY OF LIFE BY FRANCIS QUARLES.

And what is that?

And what is that?

They come, and alide, and pass,
Before my pan can tell thee what,
The posts of time are swith, which laving run,
Their seven short assess o'er, their short-lived task is done.

Our days

Begun, we lend

To sleer, to autio plays

And toys, until the first stage end:

Twelve waiting muons, twice few times told,

we give

To nurcovered loss--we rather breathe than live.

To nurcovered loss—we rather breathe tanh live.

We spend
A too year's breath
Before we apprehend
What 'its to live, or fear a death!
Our childwish recans are filled with painted joys,
Which please our seme awhile, and waning prove be toys.

How sain
How wetched, is Poor many, that doth remain
A slave to such a state as this!
His days are short, at longest; few, at most;
They are but bad, at best; yet laviabed out and lost.

y are but had, at best; yet lavisees out and
They be
The secret springs
The secret springs
The make our minutes flee
On wheels more swift than engles' wings:
Our life's a clock, and every gasp of breath thes forth a warning grief, till time shall str death.

They end
When scarce bogun;
And cro we approhend
That we bogia to live, our life is done.
Man, count thy days; and if they fly to fast thy dull thought to count, count every day
